

Title: A reckoning

Author: Apprentice Drahil

---

We have successfully
reached the fourth r
The master says that once we properly cast
this final invocation
our work will be done
and we will have attained the necessary requits to enter the sanctuary....

Many of my colleagues have expressed private doubts about the new procedures expected
of initiates by the master. There have been suspicions raised about that the previous master's departure was contrived.... I cannot speak on the latter, but do admit I have grave suspicious that this massive spell we have been asked to unleach
is very dangerous.

---

You see what appears to be a description for a massive summoning requiring, what in your mind you
evaluate the need for a least five hundred
human mages

---

Post Scriptum,
The contents of this book are all that remain of what was a
once a growing world
in a distant portion of this universe.
It is now totally overrun by hordes of daemons and has for centuries been monitored very carefully by every mage in the continuum. Somehow the wizards of that world were contrived into opening a portal into a daemon realm.